

In another attempt to deceive the court, the petitioner's wife coerced little Yoly into sending a fake text, claiming that Yolanda's call to her father the previous day was affecting her concentration and that she was now scared as a result of this call.

Yolanda has not had contact with little Yoly since they moved out on August 20, 2019. She did call the father on Tuesday, Dec 10th to ask if we could visit little Yoly.

The father claimed that he was very busy, working two jobs and that he would call Yolanda back. He never did call he back. On December the 13th, Yolanda texted Lazaro to see if she could visit little Yoly or not. He never responded to that text.

Therefore, since Yolanda only asked the father if we could visit little Yoly, there was absolutely no reason for little Yoly to be made privy of this call, and no reason whatsoever for her to be the least bit afraid of this call.

Little Yoly knows that we love her and would never harm her.

Knowing their mentality, while they could have instilled fear in little Yoly -who knows what they would have told her about this call: other than Yolanda & I wanted to visit with her- I truly believe that the mother made little Yoly send her that text on the day after the call to make it look like we were affecting little Yoly's life negatively.

By the way the text was sent on Wednesday Dec. 11. 2020 at 10:30 on a school day. Shouldn't little Yoly have been paying attention to class at that time?

It's just another ploy; the same as the previous, fake, fabricated text response to Yolanda, indicating that Lazaro said "NO, you cannot see little Yoly" which came from the same phone as this fake text. (see second illustration)

1:05 ↗

Mi Beybi

últ. vez hoy a la(s) 11:38 a. m.

mié, dic. 11

Llamada perdida a las 8:35 a. m.

Llamada perdida a las 8:35 a. m.

Mom

10:29 a. m.

No es por nada ni nada pero no me
puedo consentrar en las clases

10:30 a. m.

Por la llamada q Yolanda hizo ayer y haora tengo miedo de lo q pueda pasar

10:31 a. m.

12:55

Yoly >

Mensaje de texto
vie, dic. 13 8:27 p. m.

No he podido confirmar para
manana con Lazaro queria confirmar para las 12 un ratico
en la pisina

Estamos trabajando no se puede

Mensaje de texto

